Beamforming or spatial filtering is a signal processing technique used in sensor arrays for directional signal transmission or reception. This is achieved by combining elements in an antenna array in such a way that signals at particular angles experience constructive interference while others experience destructive interference. Beamforming can be used at both the transmitting and receiving ...

The solution: Change the thermal and pressure boundaries. OK, I know this heading may seem a little cryptic, but stay with me. In the old-style vented crawl space, a layer of poor-performing fiberglass insulation is supposed to provide a thermal barrier directly beneath the first floor of your living space.

OK, listen up people! Rockets in space will need to protect the crew from space radiation. Atomic rockets will have to protect the crew from the atomic engine radiation. And combat rockets should (but may not be able to) protect the crew from the radiation of hostile nuclear explosions and particle beam weapons fire.
